

Welcome to the workshop

Little Wren Pottery is a handmade ceramics studio run by English potter Victoria Baker in the picturesque market town of Northallerton, North Yorkshire focusing on functional yet decorative items for everyday use.

Victoria Baker @MoominMidge

21h

Keep getting Christmas songs stuck in my head, it's only December 3rd...

Expand

27 Nov 13

A windfall of apples

We eat a lot of chutney in our house, after all it goes with just about anything and especially helps to liven up lunchtimes. Apples are great for making both jams and chutneys, the naturally high amounts of pectin in the fruit really help to set your chutney well.

Continue Reading »

Posted in Baking and cookery by Victoria

0 Comments

Tagged apple, apple chutney, autumn, edibles, homemade chutney, recipe, windfall apples, windfall chutney

19 Nov 13

Yarn bowls featured in The Knitter

I really love The Knitter, its such a beautiful magazine and for knitters has some really great projects in it. In issue 65 you'll find Little Wren Pottery yarn bowls in the 'The Knitter loves' section. Its a really neat little feature!

Hello! I'm Victoria and I make hand thrown pottery. I create pieces designed to be used and loved everyday. Find out more about me.

Visit the shop

Search this blog

Subscribe

Subscribe to our feed

You can directly access our feed by clicking the above link to subscribe with your preferred programme, or you can subscribe with your Email address.

Enter your email address:

Archives

December 2013

M	T	W	T	F	S	S
						1
2	3	4	5	6	7	8
9	10	11	12	13	14	15
16	17	18	19	20	21	22
23	24	25	26	27	28	29
30	31
« Nov

Categories

- Baking and cookery
- Competitions
- Custom pottery orders
- DIY craft projects
- Etsy showcase
- Other ceramic artists
- Pottery item of the month
- studio pottery work